According to the last bulletin of the Memorial Library, books have recently been added as follows: Philosophy, 3; religion, 4; education, 4; science, 8; useful arts, 18; fine arts, 11; literature, 19; travel, 24; biography, 11; history, 5; fiction, 116; books for young people, 44; and there is a list of 33 books on music and musicians. Four magazines have been added during the year. A wealthy and well known gentleman in town is in favor of having a traveling library which will go from door to door, the same as a butcher's cart, and allow people to select such books as they wish to read. He wants to see the people happy and enjoying themselves these long and cold winter nights. He believes they will get much information if they only read books of fiction.

STRATFORD

It has been suggested that some one should come to town and open a stable, as Capt. Wakelee has virtually gone out of the business, his horses frequently being all engaged. The same suggestion has been made relative to a repair shop for bicycles, and to a restaurant. It is feared all these enterprises would prove unprofitable if any one should embark in them. The same is true of another candy shop as well as another fruit store. The town is not large enough to support these, and in some instances the experiment has been tried and proved to be disastrous. Most of our people have homes of their own and they seldom go out on the street seeking novelties. The same is true of the dramatic business. We are so near Bridgeport it is quite impractical to try and compete with that city.
Any young man who wishes to become a deliverer of the rural mail during the coming winter, must send in his application to Washington before the 5th of next month. Our postmaster will supply the blanks. Step right up to the post office and file your application.
Injunction or no injunction, that division fence still stands in the roadway to the cemetery back of the library.
Rev. D. D. Irvine preached at the Bethany Mission yesterday.

Miss Ruth Haven is home from Wellesley college for the holidays.
The Neighborhood church society has been postponed until the heating apparatus can be repaired.
The little play called "Eloquence" will be given this evening at the High School for the benefit of the athletic association. It has been adapted by one of the teachers from the Pickwick Papers.
Miss Judith Landberg, formerly of this town, sang a solo yesterday morning at Christ church.
More ideal days have recently struck the town than the oldest inhabitant can remember. A gentleman from the Pacific coast said yesterday, "This is a regular California winter."
The estate of the late George O. Lines is to be appraised by Charles E. Stagg and David L. Rhoades.
Miss Alice Judson who is in India, has been taking elephant rides by way of variety. She will go to Kobe, Japan, to remain with her sister, Nellie, until next spring.
Huntington Road is getting to be almost as fashionable as Patterson avenue. Three new houses are soon to be built there, two for Hugo and David Basset, and one for August Kalmer.
The estate of the late Frances V. Hubbell has been inventoried at $2,338.
The estate of the late Richard Carroll amounts to $2,259.
There is to be a subscription dance at Red Men's hall on New Year's evening.
On Wednesday evening next the Canaan whist club will meet in Bridgeport with Mrs. A. L. Denning.
On January 12 the Devon Fire department will give another whist.
Few people in town have supposed St. James' parish is 39 years old, but it is so stated.
